

CROYDE BEREAVEMENT SUITE / ELECTRIC BED

Help patients and partners feel comfortable within a hospital setting with the Croyde Bereavement Suite / Electric Double Bed.

This easily adjustable bed means that clients can be supported in various positions, helping to make postnatal recovery more comfortable.

There is a range of colours and wood finishes to match with existing furniture or room design, making the room feel more homely.

This makes the bed well suited to bereavement suites, where parents want a sympathetic and personal environment.

RECOVERY

The Croyde Bereavement Suite / Electric Double Bed makes postnatal recovery more comfortable for your clients.

Knee risers support improved lymphatic circulation and aid reduction in swelling of the leg, ankles and feet.

Bed height can be raised or lowered for client care, cleaning, or bed-making. This also makes it easier to get in and out of bed

PATIENT AND PARTNER COMFORT

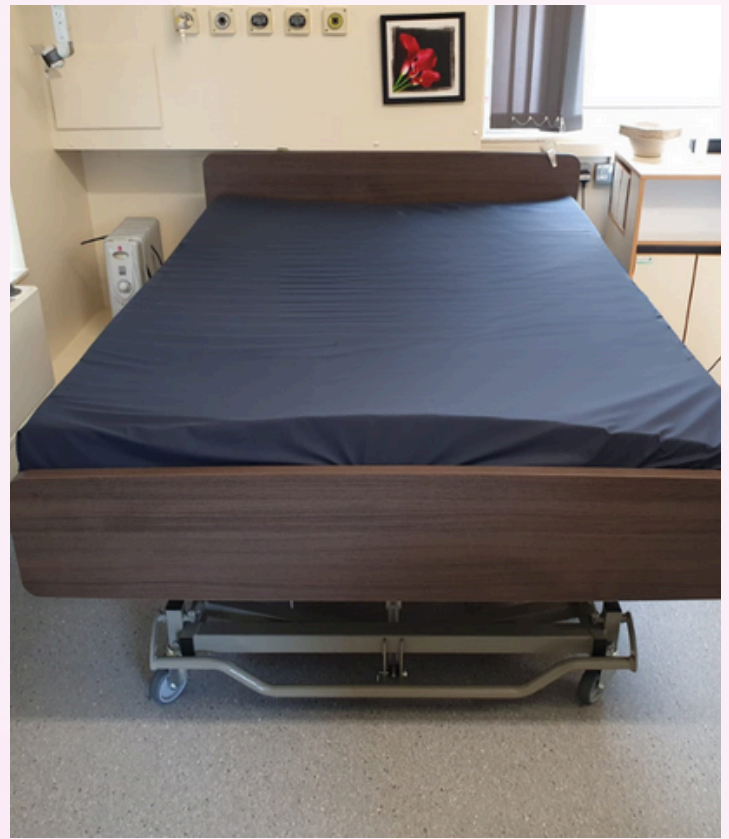

Women and their birth partners can rest together on the spacious mattress, supporting home from home postnatal care.

The adjustable bed height facilitates ease of movement getting in and out of bed, or enables her to reach a cot more easily. The bed can be moved into the most comfortable position for the client. These include sitting, lying, feet raised, or knees bent.

DESIGN FEATURES

The Croyde Electric Double Bed has been designed for hospital practicality with a non-clinical, homely appearance:

- Electric adjustment for patient comfort, or trendelenburg position
- Optional CPR mechanism and removable headboard for resus requirements
- Large wheels and central braking
- Hospital-spec mattress that is waterproof, fire retardant, and breathable
- Compliant with cleaning disinfectants, and fitted with a zip, protective flap and welded seam
- 315kg total weight capacity for two people
